GLOBAL MARKETS

Global Market Update

U.S. stocks fell on Wednesday as Treasury yields rose above the psychologically important 3 percent level and oil prices jumped, fanning worries about inflation and the outlook for interest rates. The S&P 500 ended down more than 1% in the broad sell-off, snapping a two-day winning streak. Shares of Intel Corp slid 5.3 percent and was the biggest loser of the day. This was after Citi cut its estimates on the chipmaker for the second time in a week. Citi is of the opinion that uncertainty about the demand for personal computers could lead the company to pre-announce weaker-than-expected earnings for the second quarter. This impacted shares of other chipmakers which also fell. The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 269.24 points, or 0.81%, to 32,910.9; the S&P 500 lost 44.91 points, or 1.08%, to 4,115.77; and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 88.96 points, or 0.73%, to 12,086.27.

Crude Oil

Oil prices jumped over 2% to a 13-week high on Wednesday as U.S. demand for gasoline keeps rising despite record pump prices, while expectations that China's oil demand will increase faced growing supply concerns in several countries, including Iran. Brent futures rose $3.01, or 2.5%, to settle at $123.58 a barrel, while U.S. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude rose $2.70, or 2.3%, to end at $122.11. Those were the highest closes for both Brent and WTI since March 8, which were their highest settlements since 2008.

SGX Nifty: Trends on SGX Nifty indicate a negative opening for the broader indices in India with a loss of 79.5 points. The Nifty futures were trading around 16,285 levels on the Singaporean exchange.
